Acquisition of houses.

Messrs. H. Krishna Sastry, Srikantapura Taluk and C. Narasimhaiya, Hoggadidevanakote Taluk.

D 9394

Mr C Narasimhaiya.—Before acquiring houses from persons for public purposes, no new sites are allotted to such persons. If possession is taken from such persons, they will be put to much difficulty and loss No house should therefore be acquired and demolished before another new dwelling is ready for occupation In the Madras Presidency, a Government Order has issued, in this connection. The Chairman of the Chidambaram Municipal Council reported that certain insanitary houses were so constructed as not to admit light and ventilation and without regard to water-supply Notices were served, they were prosecuted and fined, but without effect When it was recommended that the houses should be demolished, Government ordered that they should not be razed until the new houses were provided for the displaced people Our Government should enquire into the details of the Order and issue a similar order here. When houses are acquired for a public purpose, at least 6 to 7 months time should be given to people in the houses for finding a house for themselves

Dewan.—You are on the Trust Board and why not move this subject there ?

1.6.21

Mr C Narasimhaiya.—In the City of Mysore, about 4,271 houses have been acquired, but only 3,847 houses have been built, and people who have lost the remaining houses are put to much difficulty for not being provided with any accommodation Government should make a rule that no house should be acquired till a new dwelling place is provided for those whose houses have been acquired Till such satisfactory arrangements are made, the Municipality should not begin acquiring houses

Dewan.—The question is noted for consideration

I think an order similar to that of the Madras Government referred to in the summary of discussion of Subject No 171 quoted above is desirable in view of the great hardships, people have been known to have been put to

With reference to your letter No L 1624-34/M1 103-20-17 dated the 19th September 1921 calling for my opinion regarding the acquisition of houses in a municipality, I have the honor to state that it is not understood what all the words "satisfactory arrangements for housing the displaced" include It may include the advancing of money to construct a new house besides granting a site to the displaced The type of dwellings and the nature or quality of the materials to be used for them may also crop up Evidently the question of finance meets us at the threshold of every such question Having regard to the present financial stringency it may be stated that it is not feasible for all the municipalities to make satisfactory arrangements for rehousing the displaced population The practice now in vogue is that whenever any houses of building is required for public purpose, the same will be acquired in accordance with the Land Acquisition Act on payment of reasonable money compensation to the owner of the building When he is so compensated for the loss of the building, it is his own look out to make arrangements for rehousing himself If building sites are available municipalities may be asked to grant them to displaced population at concession rates as in Mysore. As houses are not acquired on a large scale in the moffussil municipalities no hardship is felt by any body Perhaps the case is difficult in premier municipalities

Sir,

With reference to your letter No. L.1624-34 Rev.
103-20-17 dated 29th September 1921, re: the acquisition of houses in a Municipality under the Land Requisition Regulation to be made after satisfactory arrangements are made for housing the displaced people, I have the honor to state that several of the houses in Municipalities are tenanted by families other than the owners of the ho ses. It cannot be said that authorities are unaware of the difficulties of the tenants in securing fresh dwellings, when their existing residences are acquired. All that they can do in the way of affording relief is to grant them fresh sites at reasonable rates if the same are available to arrange for the speedy payment of a reasonable compensation for their acquired houses and to grant a reasonable time to build or secure dwelling places for themselves but the proposition of the member requiring the Municipality not to begin acquiring houses till arrangements are made to provide new dwelling pla-ces for those whose houses have been acquired is not acceptable It is too much for the Municipality to

Sir,

With reference to correspondence ending with your letter No:L 8295-7 dated the 26th June 1923 forwarding for opinion an extract of subject No:171 from the discussions at the 1922 October Session of the Representative Assembly on the representation that houses in Municipal areas should be acquired only after satisfactory arrangements are made for housing the displaced people etc., I have the honor to state that though the difficulties complained of are doubtless real to some extent it may not always be possible or practicable to adopt the suggestion of Mr C Narasimhayya Representative Assembly member from the Mysore District as it is purely a question of funds which most of the Municipal Councils are not able to invest The framing of the rule in the matter demanded by the member seems to be necessary in spite of the fact that the recent Government Orders on acquisition work noted in the margin contain detailed instructions and strict warning to officers employed on acquisition work to take prompt action and complete all acquisition proceedings including the payment of the compensation amount, within six months from the publication of the notification for the acquisition of the property in the Mysore Gazette.

Sir,

With reference to Revenue Secretary's letter No.L.1624-34/Ml. 103-20-17 dated the 19th September 21 calling for my opinion regarding the acquisition of houses in a municipality to be made after making satisfactory arrangements for housing the displaced people, I have the honour to state that it is represented in subject No.171 that a rule should be made that no house should be acquired till a new dwelling place is provided for those whose houses have been acquired

However laudable the object of the representation may be, the proposal purpose does not appear to be an easily workable one. The consent of the owner of the house may be necessary in the first instance, as to whether he would like to have a house in exchange or to receive -- money compensation only. In the second place, the question of -- settling encumbrances, if any, may arise. Then again, the amount awarded may not be sufficient for the construction of a new house and the owner may not be in a position to meet the additional cost, if any. The acquisition of houses in a needful municipal area takes place when they are required urgently for removing congestion and improving sanitation or widening the existing roads. If the owners are to be allowed 6 or 7 months time for finding new houses for them as --

Sir,

With reference to letter No L 1624-34/M1 103-20-17 dated the 19th September 1921 from the Secretary to Government Revenue Department to the address of the President City Municipal Council Mysore (copy transferred to this office) calling for opinion in the matter of acquisition of houses in a Municipality under the Land Acquisition Regulation being effected after satisfactory arrangements are made for housing the displaced people I have the honor to state that acquisition work in the Trust Board is being carried on pari-passu with the formation of extensions with a view to provide accommodation to the displaced population The principle of providing the owners whose houses are acquired with sites elsewhere, has always been kept in view, and for this purpose several healthy extensions have been laid out and sites are granted to the displaced at an upset price They are also allowed to remove the materials of their dismantled houses at an upset price to help them to build their new houses Model houses have also been constructed at the cost of the Trust Board and sold the price being recovered in instalments Further, loans have been advanced for the construction of houses on condition of repaying the same in instalments The construction of model houses and the granting of loans have now been stopped The other facilities are continued and there is ample room for the displaced people in the Extensions which have been laid out Some of the sites granted are still unbuilt and the owners themselves are responsible for keeping them vacant There is a tendency on the part of some people to huddle themselves where they were The complaint that sufficient facilities have not been provided for the displaced people seems groundless In the present state of our finances it is not possible to build houses and offer them to the owners whose houses are acquired Further the houses built may not suit those for whom they are built Sites are generally provided for the displaced people and they have to make their own arrangements for building houses thereon This policy has always been followed by the Board and may be accepted

The representation was to the effect that no house should be acquired for a public purpose unless the owner is provided with a new dwelling or has had sufficient time given to him to enable him to shift for himself In the Mysore City, with special reference to which this suggestion was made the Trust Board has always kept in view the needs of the displaced population and afforded facilities to the dispossessed owners to accommodate themselves by allowing them to take the materials of their houses, granting them sites at an upset price in the new Extensions and otherwise Similar measures are adopted in other places also as far as funds permit A rigid rule of the kind suggested would be unworkabl

ORDER No L 3643 63—ML 103 20 27 DATED 17TH NOVEMBER 1924

The representation was to the effect that no house should be acquired for a public purpose unless the owner is provided with a new dwelling or has had sufficient time given to him to enable him to shift for himself In the Mysore City with special reference to which the suggestion was made the Trust Board has always kept in view the need of the displaced population and afforded facilities to the dispossessed owners to accommodate themselves by allowing them to take the materials of their houses granting them sites at an upset price in the new extensions and otherwise Similar measures are adopted in other places also so far as funds permit A rigid rule of the kind suggested would be unworkable in practice and hinder necessary measures of sanitary improvement

2 In these circumstance Government regret their inability to accept the suggestion
